

Summer 2019

It's in TURNER's DNA to at least try to make the world a better place. Our philosophy has always been that everyone should embrace a cause they're passionate about — and do something about it. Our hearts have taken us around the globe, from orphanages in Kenya to the slums of Kolkata, to schools in Fiji and food banks in our own neighborhoods. We're inspired by solution-based nonprofits, brands that give back and journalists who care enough to give a voice to the voiceless.

Here are a few TURNER Simply Give initiatives we'd love to share.

ROOM TO GROW

Room to Grow is a nonprofit organization that provides families with structured coaching, material goods, and community connections to support parents as they activate natural strengths, gain confidence and knowledge, and ensure their babies have the social, emotional and language skills they need to thrive from the start. This summer, TURNER's NYC team spent an afternoon counting, sorting, organizing, and preparing donations of baby clothing, toys, and books for the families in Room to Grow's program at our Family Center.

VENEZUELA AID LIVE

The TURNER team in Miami has roots in Venezuela, a country that is in need of humanitarian aid in 2019. Venezuela Aid Live is a great way to help out. Any donation will:

- Bring awareness and sensitize the world about the humanitarian crisis Venezuela is currently facing and receive donations in hopes of supporting the ones who are suffering.
- Help to reopen the border, so that humanitarian aid that has been blocked from going in and the funds raised during the event can reach those who need it most.
- Help generate a sustainable social investment for Venezuela

PARKS & REC

TURNER loves the outdoors as much as it loves volunteering. This summer, we combined the two by joining forces with the Denver Parks & Recreation department to help clean up the Mile High City's trails and waterfront areas.

BOMBAS MAKES HEADLINES

TURNER client Bombas continues to make waves thanks to its unique, buy-a-pair, donate-a-pair mission. The sock brand was recently featured on Fast Company in a story titled "Getting Startups Fired Up About Social Justice, One Sock At A Time." "In 2013, entrepreneurs Randy Goldberg and David Heath stumbled across a Facebook post that mentioned a serious need for socks at homeless shelters around the country," writes Elizabeth Segran. "Four years later, they have sold—and donated—nearly four million pairs."

THE KIMPTON SURFCOMBER CONNECTS WITH MIAMI KIDS

Last year, The Kimpton Surfcomber Hotel teamed up with Santlov, a local Miami artist that exhibited some of his work during Art Basel at the hotel. A group of kid's from the Overtown Youth Center were invited on property during Art Basel to meet the artist and the property team and to see the exhibition. The artist and the kids had a chance to chat about his art and the thriving art scene in Miami. The property's general manager (Mohan Koka) and director of sales and marketing (Sharee Awwal) also had the opportunity to discuss the path to a career as a hotel executive. To conclude the evening the hotel hosted the for a delicious meal at the property's restaurant The Social Club.

FOOD BANK OF THE ROCKIES FEEDS THOSE IN NEED

Did you know that $1 can provide four meals for those who are in need? The Food Bank of the Rockies is a great — and easy — way to help out. The organization serves 30 counties in Colorado and the entire state of Wyoming, serving 131,000 meals each day. There are two ways to get involved: donate or volunteer. Every little bit helps in the fight against hunger.

KIMPTON SEAFIRE CLEANS UP

The Kimpton Seafire Guardians cover all things environment in Cayman, from turtle nesting season to beach clean ups. More recently, there's been a larger focus on Coral Conservation (CC), which involves collecting healthy coral and regenerating it in coral nurseries. The mission is to protect, develop and regenerate the ocean's coral reefs. As rainforests of the sea, they're not just a divers dream, but also support an astonishing 25 percent of marine life and act as natural breakwaters, defending Cayman from hurricanes and storms.

ROCK SOLID USED GEAR

Arc'teryx, the global design company specializing in technical, high-performance apparel, outerwear and equipment, takes another step in its ongoing commitment to sustainable design with the launch of a recommerce program called Rock Solid Used Gear. Harkening back to the company's original name when it was founded over 30 years ago, Rock Solid Used Gear is a repurposing hub designed to keep excellent products in service as long as possible — and to lighten the company's environmental footprint.

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT

We Don't Waste is an innovative food provider for the hungry. The organization gathers excess food from venues, caterers, restaurants and other local food purveyors, and redistributes these healthy items to underserved populations in Denver and across the Front Range. The organization recovers and delivers more than 25 million servings of food annually. The TURNER team volunteered for We Don't Waste at a recent Denver Broncos game, recovering uneaten food for homeless shelters across the city.
